AirScoot

Have you wanted to check out RC helicopters but aren't quite ready for the somewhat lengthy assembly time required by most? Then listen up; we may have found the perfect first-time heli for you. AirScooter Corp.'s new AirScoot comes virtually ready to fly, right out of the box. Constructed of durable materials, the indoor/outdoor AirScoot comes with a 10-cell battery pack, metal-g geared servos, a piezo-gyro, a speed control and a 340W cobalt motor. It has a 28-inch-diameter, 2-blade dual main rotor and weighs just 66 ounces. As listed above, the AirScoot sells for $846, but it's also available in a complete, ready-to-fly package that includes a Hitec transmitter, receiver and 10-cell peak charger for $995.
